

Graduate Attributes - MBA

- 1) Professional knowledge & skills - Comprehensive knowledge of management sciences and competence in business sustainability, profitability, entrepreneurship and commercializing new business.
- 2) Problem-solving abilities – Critical thinking and decision making skills to identify, analyze and solve complex business problems.
- 3) Research skills – Ability to conduct management research of highest standards and make significant contribution to innovative management practices.
- 4) Communication skills – Ability to communicate effectively with professional colleagues and society at large.
- 5) Ethical behavior – Ethics in conduct of research and accountability towards community and profession.
- 6) Social Responsibility - Ability to recognize and respond to community problems and needs for improving management practices, particularly healthcare.
- 7) Responsibility towards environment and sustainability – A management graduate will be able to actively contribute to environment conservation and sustainability practice through innovation and best practices.
- 8) Leadership - Exhibit soft skills and technical skills to enhance business performance. Be able to work in teams and demonstrate leadership qualities, including multidisciplinary settings.
- 9) Self directed learning – A management graduate will demonstrate the ability to self direct their learning and new knowledge and skills as per need of the time.

Dr. Chetan Chaudhari
Director I/C

